

PROJECT POP UP: DOWNTOWN

A new program of Mayor Luke Ravenstahl in conjunction with the Urban Redevelopment Authority, Department of City Planning and Pittsburgh Downtown Partnership.

Over 90 artists, entrepreneurs, and non-profits submitted proposals to activate Downtown storefronts. Finalists were invited to “pop” into Downtown for limited engagements.

● Society for the Advancement of Miniature Curiosa

131 Seventh St

A gallery, toy theater parlor, performance space, and workshop that seeks to spark the resurgence of curiosity and wonderment in Downtown Pittsburgh.

● Symbiotic Collusion

131 Seventh St

A modern music initiative presenting visual and musical art concepts through installation, education, and performance. Performances will include string quartets, bands, orchestras, and demonstrations.

● Burgheoisie

208 Sixth St

A retail boutique featuring high quality, handmade wares from local artisans in a welcoming environment that offers community workshops.

● Robot Repairs

210 Sixth St

Is your robot experiencing technical difficulties? Consider visiting this place for a potential fix.

● Summer Sky Eternal

604 Liberty Ave

No matter what the season, this interactive digital installation will make you feel a bit warmer on the city street. Step near the screen to see how your movement affects the display.

● Dream Cream Ice Cream Parlor

539 Liberty Ave (opening spring '12)

More than just a great place for a scoop. A portion of designated flavor sales will be contributed to causes in exchange for community service of the recipient, aka “the dreamer.”

● The Steel Curtain

1035 Penn Ave

The greatest defensive line of all time comes alive in this installation. Come visit to see the iconic front four from the Steelers dynasty at this historical display.

● Awesome Books

929 Liberty Ave

An independent Pittsburgh-based bookstore offering new and used books of high quality. Expect readings by authors and publishers.

● Community

422 Wood St

A photographic installation of analog televisions and morphing portraiture, displaying a wall of personalities and identities representing the importance of community.

● Main Feature

420 Wood St

You are the star of this “main feature.” Have a look for yourself as you approach the marquee, box office, and entrance to this movie house.
